Short Description

The Sterling Money Market Fund is a peso denominated money market Unit Investment Trust Fund launched last April 7, 2009. It is suited for professionals, corporations, high-salaried OFWs, and other individuals or corporations who are looking to invest over the short to medium-term. These are clients who intend to settle for return on investment that is higher than the regular traditional deposit products, and are aware that a higher return is accompanied by a higher level of risk. These clients are also willing to expose the funds to a certain level of risk thus can accept some near-term or temporary fluctuations in value of investments.

The investment objective of the Fund is to generate a steady stream of income by investing in a diversified portfolio of short term government securities, money market securities, and other highly marketable fixed-income instruments up to maximum tenor of five years but at an average maturity duration of one year or less.

The Fund aims to achieve a rate of return based on the prevailing PDST-R2 rate plus 0.25% to 1%.

Market Update & Outlook

The Philippines was recently uplifted by the news before going to the Lenten Holidays that Fitch Ratings has classified the country's credit ratings to investment grade "BBB-" from "BB+"

Said ratings was brought about by the positive outlook on the government's efforts to achieve fiscal sustainability, ongoing campaign against corruption and increase infrastructure spending.

The market remains on the positive level amid the ongoing European Union economic woes particularly on the current Cyprus concerns and the brewing North Korean threats against the US and South Korea.

The BSP has recently lowered the SDA rates to stimulate the economic growth by pushing for more SME lending, however, the intention was proven otherwise considering that the SDA volume even increased to almost Php2.0T. As such, the Monetary Board might have another round of rate cuts to around 100 Basis Points

Investment Strategy

The Sterling Money Market Fund will continue to be invested in various short term high yielding instruments.

We will look for more opportunities to invest in long-term bonds and shall maintain proactive stance in investing.

We will continue to monitor the market for opportunity to lock in gain for our existing investments and for possible additional investment in medium to long-term high yielding bonds to improve investment returns.
