Short Description

The Sterling Money Market Fund is a peso denominated money market Unit Investment Trust Fund launched last April 7, 2009. It is suited for professionals, corporations, high-salaried OFWs, and other individuals or corporations who are looking to invest over the short to medium-term. These are clients who intend to settle for return on investment that is higher than the regular traditional deposit products, and are aware that a higher return is accompanied by a higher level of risk. These clients are also willing to expose the funds to a certain level of risk thus can accept some near-term or temporary fluctuations in value of investments.

The investment objective of the Fund is to generate a steady stream of income by investing in a diversified portfolio of short term government securities, money market securities, and other highly marketable fixed-income instruments up to maximum tenor of five years but at an average maturity duration of one year or less.

Outstanding Investments

The Fund aims to achieve a rate of return based on the prevailing PDST-R2 rate plus 0.25% to 1%.

Market Update & Outlook

There was a rally in the local government securities (GS) market as inflation remain within forecast and on expectation that there will be no interest hike from the BSP until the end of the year. In the last Monetary Board meeting, policy remained unchanged in line with expectations. Players will continue to track U.S. Treasury yields in the near term while keeping an eye on updates and guidance on global growth, particularly China and the Eurozone.

PSEi climbs back to 7,000 level amid remittances growth. Overseas remittances grew 7.2% in August. Remittances is an integral component of the Philippine economy as it promotes domestic consumption, one of its largest driver and keeps us insulated from external shocks abroad.

Investment Strategy

Sterling Bank of Asia Trust will continue to be on the look out for securities with higher returns. There are some opportunities on new corporate and bank issues. In the short-term, the FUND will be invested in the BSP Special Deposit Accounts (SDA) and certificates of time deposits.
